INVESTMENTS WITH HIGH RISK

CFDs, Forex and Futures are complex instruments and come with the high risk of losing money quickly because of the leverage effect. 75 - 90% of retail investor accounts lose money trading these instruments. Be aware of how they work and understand all the risks associated with this market and trading such instruments.

In particular, leveraged trading in the above instruments is subject to price fluctuations and involves the risks of loss of your capital deposit. Depending on the type of account, the loss may exceed the original deposit. Make sure you understand all the risks associated with CFD, Forex and Future trading and seek independent advice if necessary. Trading in the above instruments is not suitable for every investor.
